

Excellence / Collaboration / Rigor

Analysis Group at a Glance

We provide economics consulting services to top law firms, Fortune Global 500 companies, global health care corporations, and government agencies. Our work is grounded in the principles and practices of economic analysis – whether we are conducting quantitative assessments related to litigation or developing models for use in corporate strategic planning.

One of the largest economics consulting firms, with over 35 years of experience

Composed of 1,000+ professionals across 14 offices

An industry leader providing economic and financial analysis and consulting to a global client base

A collaborative team that works closely with a network of experts from leading academic institutions, industry, and government

Our Work

We have worked on thousands of cases across multiple industries for clients large (major consumer brands, technology companies, financial institutions, and health care firms) and small (entrepreneurial startups, artists, inventors). We have built a reputation for excellence by providing fact-based, objective interpretations of complex legal and business issues, and developing state-of-the-art analyses and insights for our clients.

Our consultants work closely with a network of distinguished academic authorities and specialized industry experts to translate economic theory into real-world legal and business practice. These include deans of top business schools, former Presidential advisers, and world-renowned authorities from industry and government.

Our Culture

Excellence & Rigor

We are committed to delivering high quality in all that we do, and value work that is error-free and views that are backed up by data and facts.

Collaboration

We believe in tackling tough problems together; the people who do best here have strong interpersonal skills in conjunction with technical expertise.

Development of Self & Others

Our most valuable asset is our people, so a central aspect of our culture is helping each other grow. We also believe in personal agency, where employees are in charge of their learning experiences.

Trust & Respect

We believe good ideas can come from anyone. We also expect that people at all levels will speak up when something isn't working, even if it is hard to do.

Opportunity

We seek individuals with a demonstrated ability in economics, finance, accounting, health policy and outcomes, statistics, business strategy, and similar disciplines that emphasize expertise in quantitative and qualitative analysis. Our professionals are motivated by intellectual curiosity and a passion for solving complex business and litigation problems.

We are large enough to work on the high-profile cases behind tomorrow's headlines, but small enough that each team member can contribute fully in engagements.

We are structured enough to provide individualized mentoring and development opportunities, yet flexible enough to give you exposure to different practice areas.

We support our consultants and administrative staff across their tenure by offering a variety of formal learning programs, coaching, and mentoring.

We work hard, but we strive to maintain balance with life outside the office, including team sports, community-building activities, and employee-designed events. Case-related travel is minimal.

Your Career at Analysis Group

There is a defined career path at our firm (we also offer internship opportunities):

Advancement is based on merit, reflecting your contributions to case work and client and affiliate relationships. As your career evolves, you will have numerous opportunities to play ever-larger roles in the growth and management of the firm. At every stage, you will receive comprehensive feedback and mentoring.

As an analyst with Analysis Group, you will:

- Conduct market and company research
- Perform data analysis, including econometric estimation of models and implementation of financial models
- Develop computer programs using SAS, Stata, R, and other technologies
- Participate in case team meetings and discussions
- Perform qualitative research such as reviewing and summarizing analyst reports and client documents

We are invested in your professional development and growth, and provide multidimensional support for analysts who plan to apply to graduate school. After a few years with the firm, analysts often attend top M.B.A., J.D., Ph.D., or other masters programs. Many former analysts return to Analysis Group as associates after completing graduate programs. Some Analysts who already hold advance degrees progress to the associate level.

As an associate with Analysis Group, you will:

- Identify the central economic issues underlying specific client problems
- Develop the analytical frameworks to solve those problems
- Formulate economic and financial models
- Conduct empirical research
- Work closely with senior consultants, internal experts, and academic affiliates
- Participate in case team and client meetings

Our goal is to help associates develop into strong leaders with a comprehensive set of skills. Analysis Group offers formal training programs on a variety of topics at every stage of your career, as well as individual support through coaching and mentoring. Associates will typically have earned a Ph.D. or an M.B.A. We also hire associates with other graduate degrees plus relevant work experience.
